Mr. John McMahon
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. McMahon:

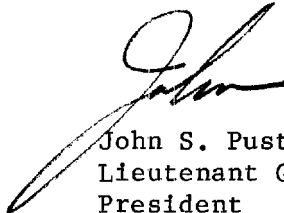

Please accept my personal thanks for the excellent briefings provided to participants in the Pilot JCS General and Flag Officer Program. Three principal members of your staff, [redacted] [redacted] were most helpful in discussing topics of great interest with our students, and in answering their questions. With this important background, the students will better be able to put into perspective the role of the intelligence community in addressing national security issues facing the United States.

Please express our appreciation to [redacted] and his staff for arranging the details of our visit. These efforts were most beneficial.

Thank you again for your strong support. With the kind of help you provided, I am sure our pilot program will be an unqualified success.

Very respectfully,

John S. Pustay
Lieutenant General, U.S. Air Force
President

STAT Dear

[Redacted]
The attached is self-explanatory and, I believe, accurately reflects the deep appreciation of the class of senior officers for your -- as always -- excellent briefing. I would like to add my own thanks for your willingness to participate on such short notice.

STAT Dear [Redacted]

The attached is self-explanatory. I would, however, like to express my personal appreciation for your willingness to brief the class on such short notice. The comments regarding the briefings which I overheard as I escorted the class to the bus were highly complimentary.

Again, my sincere thanks.

Dear [Redacted]

The attached letter is self-explanatory.
I would like to add my personal thanks for your willingness to come to my rescue despite shortness of time and a case of the "flu."
Comments made by members of the class as I escorted them back to their bus were highly complimentary of the briefings.

Again, my sincere thanks.

Information on Visit by General Officers on 4 March 1983 from 2-4 p.m. in Room 7D60 (DCI Conference Room)

The group is composed of 22 senior military officers, actual O-7s and above or selectees to O-7, and an FSO with rank of Minister-Counselor who are members of an 11-week pilot course at the Institute of Higher Defense Studies. The Director of the Institute has asked for a briefing on CIA's capabilities for collection and on the Agency's role in support of both policy makers and joint commands. Earlier in the week, the group was scheduled to meet with among others, the Secretaries of State and Defense, the Chairman of the JCS, and the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs.

Accompanying the students will be six faculty members, 3 colonels and 3 retired officers of 4-star rank (Army General Blanchard, Air Force General Seith, and Admiral Kidd.) All of the class, including the faculty members, hold TOP SECRET SI/TK clearances.

Further Information on Visit by General Officers

The group is composed of 23 senior officers, actual 0-7s and above or selectees ^{to} 0-7. There is one student from State -- with rank of Minister Counselor. There will be seven faculty members, 3 former 4-star officers, 3 colonels and a civilian staff member from the Naval War College. All students and faculty except for the civilian faculty member have TOP SECRET ~~SI~~TK clearances. The civilian realizes he may not be allowed to participate in the briefings.

The members of the group have been briefed by a representative from DIA but not by anyone from NSA. They hope to learn about CIA's capabilities for collection and CIA's capability to support both policy offices and military commands. They are described as "not particularly knowledgeable about intelligence."

The escorting officer is a Col. Bob Butterfield, deputy director of the Institute of Higher Defense Studies. The senior faculty member is retired Admiral Isaac Kidd.

STAT [redacted] of OTE is handling all security questions. She also reserved Room ^{7D60} ~~4E64~~ for Friday from 2-4 p.m.. She will also inform STAT [redacted] of the visit.

Richard

Col. Doleski (sp?) called on 25 February to request a briefing of some 30 officers, O-7 and above, at Headquarters on 4 March from ^{2:00 - 4:00} ~~10:00 to 11:00~~. Subject should be collection activities of the Agency and how we cooperate with other intelligence organizations. This group is in a 10-11 week pilot course for general officers of all services. Present course contains ³ retired four-star generals. The course is part of a JCS-sponsored professional education program and is managed by the Institute of Higher Defense Studies. All participants have clearances at least through TOP SECRET. Doleski will call back on Monday afternoon with further details.
